

Columbia Population Research Center
Advancing Research in Population, Health, and Society

“Neither Grapes nor Lettuce”:
An Interdisciplinary Symposium on U.S. Immigration and Migration

*“The fight is never about grapes or lettuce. It is always about people.”
—Cesar Chavez, labor and civil rights activist*

In honor of Cesar Chavez Day and National Farmworker Awareness Week, this symposium aims to showcase interdisciplinary initiatives around immigration and migration in the United States. Submission types are flexible and may include:

- Academic scholarship such as dissertations, policy analysis, and research
- Community advocacy initiatives and program proposals
- Photography, painting, film/media, creative writing, and/or other artwork

Submissions focusing on U.S. farmworkers are especially welcome.

Who

Students, professionals, activists, artists, and others involved in immigrant/migrant advocacy are all encouraged to apply.

Deadline for Submission

Presentations should be submitted online at <https://goo.gl/forms/7ZbYP6E9mevTkNmc2> by March 1, 2017.

When

11am - 1pm
Friday, March 31, 2017

Where

Room 305
Columbia School of Social Work
1255 Amsterdam Avenue, NY, NY 10027

Contact: Joanna Xing, jx2269@cumc.columbia.edu